SES Needs Jobs For Over 900 Students

The Student Employment Service of the Monterey Peninsula reports that over 900 local students--ages 16 to 22--are registered for summer employment. Of this total, 496 are from Seaside, Fort Ord and Marina. The number of registered workers is less than last year. This decrease is because, says SES, many students who were referred to jobs last year will continue on these jobs and work full time during the summer.

Loren Smith, president of SES, reports that so far this year the placement of students in after-school and weekend work has increased and he hopes this trend will continue. However, with federal cutbacks at military installations on the Peninsula, it is anticipated that there will be a reduction of job openings under the Youth Opportunity Program for students who meet the disadvantaged criteria.

To assist the students in obtaining summer jobs, the SES Committee is going to be more dependent on local employers to provide jobs. Each employer in the community will be contacted and asked to help in providing summer jobs.

The Student Employment Service is a non-profit community project which has operated since 1959 for the purpose of serving local students who need assistance in obtaining jobs and providing service to employers who need help. This service is provided at no cost to the student or employer.

Employers who are interested in hiring a student full or part time during the summer are asked to call 373-0143. The SES program is serviced by the Department of Human Resources Development Office, 480 Webster Street, Monterey.

Summer Counseling Program Is Ready

Nine community counselors will be working in the Monterey Peninsula Unified School District this summer to help sixth and ninth grade students make transitions to junior and senior high schools next fall.

The counselors will work from lists of students provided by each school and attempt to meet with parents and students to talk about the new school settings, according to Leonard Cohn, supervisor of child welfare and attendance. The district offered similar counseling services last summer, he said.

The summer counselors try to achieve a positive relationship between home and school, helping to work with specific needs of students, and explain what students can expect when they reach their new schools, Cohn said. Discussions are held about course offerings, attendance requirements and academic requirements, he explained.

The counseling service will continue through August 31. Parents who want to meet with the counselors or who would like more information about the counseling program may call Seaside High School at 649-7426 or Monterey High School at 649-7119.

ARMY RECRUITER

Hi everyone.

How would you like to become a radio mechanic? If that has been your dream, but for some reason you haven't had the money or the opportunity, TODAY'S ARMY can be the place where it all can begin for you. If you can qualify, you can become a radio mechanic in TODAY'S ARMY and receive the training and experience that will benefit you in civilian life or if you remain on active duty. While thousands of your associates are finding the doors closed to civilian jobs because of a lack of experience, or are paying local unions a substantial portion of their salary to arok as apprentices, while young men in TODAY'S ARMY are receiving $307.20 per month and receive their training from professional instructors. They are also provided with free room and board, complete medical and dental care and a chance to choose where they want to work.

Young men who enlist for work as radio mechanics in TODAY'S ARMY are sent to Fort Knox, KY., Fort Sill, OK., or Fort Benning, GA. to learn how to install, operate and maintain communications equipment used in the field. TODAY'S ARMY employs a "hands-on" approach which permits young men to work with transmitters, receivers, FM radio equipment and AM and SSB radio equipment only weeks after they enter the service.

Field Radio Mechanics are the people who permit an Army unit to stay in close contact with other units in the field. It is valuable training and experience for a young man or woman who would like to work in private industry someday as a radio repairman or an electrician. TODAY'S ARMY teaches its radio mechanics the fundamentals of electricity and how they apply to vacuum and solid state circuits. They also show young people how to read and apply circuit and schematic diagrams like the ones electricians must read on civilian jobs.

One of the more attractive features of TODAY'S ARMY is the vacation allotment. In civilian positions, young men with less than a year's experience generally are fortunate to get two weeks. TODAY'S ARMY gives everyone 30 paid vacation days.

Young men and women interested in opportunities in TODAY'S ARMY should contact us at 431-Webster St. Monterey, or call 372-4742/372-0553.

What Is A Drum And Bugle Field Contest?

To those who will be seeing a drum and bugle competition contest for the first time on June 30 at the Monterey College football stadium, here are a few interesting facts.

Musically speaking, the bugle used by these corps is a single valve instrument keyed in G-F. Use of a rotary valve on the horn takes the horn to an F sharp configuration. The variety of sizes makes for the overall "big band" sounds that you will hear. The range of sizes varies from the smallest (Soprano) up through French, Flugle, Mellophone, Baritone, and the largest, the shoulder carried Contra-bass. Those horns are the most difficult blown instruments to master. To play them well while standing is difficult enough, to play them well while in motion is something else again.

The work of the drum line has for years fallen into an "accompaniment" category. Of late, however, the modern corps drum line is as much a part of the musical program as is the horn section. Drums indeed, "make" the total show concept "live".

Part of the great and colorful portion of each corps show is the color guard. Each guard paints a beautiful picture working in and out of the musical theme of each unit.

The pageantry of a championship drum corps competition combines the military precision of West Point, the musical blend of a well directed band or orchestra and the showmanship of a Broadway production.

Judging of a contest is broken down into four categories for scoring.

Every corps has a total of 100 points to start with and during the time on the field, every error they make in the various categories will cost them one-tenth of a point. At the time of their performance, the total errors are subtracted from the 100-point with the highest points is adjudged the winner.

Categories that corps are judged on are as follows: Marching and Maneuvering, Bugling, Drumming and General effect in Marching and Maneuvering, Drumming and Bugling.

Each corps is on the field from 11 to 13 minutes. If a corps is on the field less than 11 minutes or more than 13 minutes, they are penalized one full point for each minute or fraction thereof.

Once the corps steps off the line in the start of their show they must remain within all boundaries of the field of competition (football field). The only member allowed to go over any boundary is the drum major or musical director, and of the allotted 11 to 13 minute routine, a corps must be in motion a minimum of 8 minutes.

BEHIND THE SCENE

The time and effort involved in preparing for this contest and other contests throughout the corps season is something most people have little understanding of.

The show on the Monterey Peninsula was started immediately after the 1972 season ended.

The corps director and his staff started with a preliminary schedule and budget for the next season. The music arrangers began selecting and arranging their music, the drum instructor would then write parts to fit the overall score and the drill instructor would prepare a marching show to fit all parts.

While all the preparation for the new show is in the mill the corps members are refreshing themselves on all the basics on marching, drumming, bugling, to improve their carriage, marching ability and fundamentals of musical delivery. When a corps is on the field and all of the feet are in unison, the leg lift is exactly the same height; this is because of the training.

Most corps practice twice a week during the winter months and as soon as the weather improves, weekend rehearsals start and increase in number as they approach the beginning of the corps season.

The director, during this time is arranging the tour for the coming season. After setting a schedule which will allow the corps to reach as many competitions as they wish, it is then necessary to arrange for housing for one hundred to one hundred-thirty people.

Most of the corps that will be here on June 30 will travel ten to twenty thousand miles to compete in major national contest. This requires equipment, trucks and corps owned buses. The eight corps that will be here will require twenty-four buses, twelve trucks and several dozen staff members.

The admission price of $1.50 is well worth the evening of music extravaganza and precision drill.

Tickets are on sale at all Chamber of Commerce offices on the Peninsula with the Seaside American Legion Post, the Seaside Community Choir and the Young Adults for Action.

Do you want to believe in God?
You can. Not just because of what someone says about God. But because of what you yourself can learn and prove about divine Love.
Like the woman who was instantly freed by an assailant one night — when she turned to God in prayer. Or the entertainer whose back was healed through prayer after he was told he couldn't walk without surgery.
These individuals found that divine Love meets even the most challenging human needs ... that powerful spiritual laws are available for anyone to use.

MAY VOWS REPEATED

Wanda Jean Fowler and Robert Phillips Taylor, Jr., were united in marriage on Saturday, May 19, at the First United Methodist Church in Pacific Grove. Reverend Dale Baker officiated the 1 p.m. ceremony.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Eisemann of Seaside, wore a white wedding gown, featuring the victorian neckline trimmed with sheer seeded pearls, empire whistline and long laced sleeves. Her illusion catheral veil was held in place by a juliet cap. She carried a cascade of yellow and white rose buds with baby breathe and stephantis.

Bridesmaids Sandra Dowden of Monterey and the bride's sister, Mrs. Wayne Sturgill of Seaside, and Maid of Honor, Rose Ditullio of Pacific Grove, wore floor length yellow swiss dotted halter dresses with matching shawls, wide brim hats carried baskets of yellow and white rose buds.

The bridesgroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert P. Taylor, Sr. of Pacific Grove. He chose Horace Costanza of Tahoe City, California to serve as best man. Ushers were Dan Schupback and Ken Cox, both of Pacific Grove.

Taylor, a graduate of Pacific Grove High School, Monterey Peninsula College and California State University, San Jose, where he received a B.A. Degree in Business Management, is presently employed at Carminate Olds in Monterey. He has one sister, Franches Peak of Hollywood, Florida.

The bride graduated from Seaside High School and Monterey Peninsula College. She is manager of Harbor House of Gifts. She has another sister, Mrs. Cleo Cox of Oklahoma. Her brothers are Wayne Fowler and David Eisemann both of Seaside.

VISITORS ON THE PENINSULA

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Walker of Seaside, were delighted to have had a short visit from Mrs. Walker's nephews, Sanford and Darrell Jones of Gary, Indiana. This was the first visit to the peninsula for the young adults, who motored across country.

Sanford, recently discharged from the United States Army, and his brother are taking in a little travel before returning to their hometown. The brothers will visit friends in Los Angeles and San Diego enroute to Gary.

While on the Monterey Peninsula, their aunt, the former Therressia White and her husband, hosted their guests to many historical sights of interest in this area, went bowling and were host and hostess during an exciting dinner party in their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Jones of Gary, are the proud parents of Darrell and Sanford. Mrs. Jones is a sister of Mrs. Walker.

BRIDAL SHOWER

Mrs. Charlie (Lottie) Williams of Seaside, hosted a miscellaneous bridal shower in her beautiful home in honor of Miss Demetria Hunter, also of Seaside, on Saturday, June 2. Miss Hunter will be married on June 30.

Approximately 30 guests enjoyed an evening of fun, games and the hospitality of their gracious hostess. Mrs. Williams' beautifully displayed decor, including various foods, were made up in the bride's color skeem.

Many lovely gifts were received and opened by the bride-to-be. Her sister, Mrs. Robert (Jackie) Cocroft arrived from Milwaukee, Wisconsin, to enjoy the evening with old friends and was delighted to observe her elated sister in the opening of her gifts. Another sister, Mrs. George Ortiz, also of Seaside, was equally pleased.

The financee's mother, Mrs. Grover D. Hunter and her finance's mother, Mrs. Samuel Brown, both of Seaside, were two very happy parents during the entire affair.

Out of town guests attending were Mrs. Carl Williams of San Francisco and Sigrid Williams of Berkeley.

Circle Theater Being Reborn

More and more people are becoming aware that Carmel's Circle Theatre has not faded away into photographic displays of past eras. Instead it is being reborn into yet another cycle of theatrical essence.

Standing center stage, it seems that the feeling of theatre permeates the building waiting the call of actors and audiences wishing to be fathered up in theatrical experience. The efforts of Tim Thompson, David McCharen, Micheal Neilond and many others to sound the call have not gone unrewarded.

Says one of the directors, David McCharen, "We've gotten a lot of energy from people expressing their appreciation for our productions and their wishes to see us continue creating and growing. So we are continuously working. Because a large part of our concept is audience- response improvisational work we are in a position to better assess what is relevent to the audience. From that contact our theatre grows."

On June 21, 22, 23 the weekend following the Father's Day Bar-B-Q, the Circle Theatre will open with "Collision Course: series a "a selection of one act plays and original works directed by McCharen. Both plays will also run the first two weeks of July, respectively.

From the business standpoint, the Circle is a good example of how energy and determination pays. With very little money to gegin with, they have held their own against the odds and with the Producer Tim Thompson states "We could have completed the wiring much sooner if we had the money to work with. But we spent our time and energy to earn money to operate on, and that we will contunue to do."

Recital Set At MPC

David Grimes, classical guitarist, will appear in recital in the Music Hall at Monterey Peninsula College on Saturday, June 23, at 8 p.m. The recital is sponsored by The Guitar Shop of Carmel.

Grimes is one of the most highly regarded teachers and performers in the California area, described in recent reviews as "a perfectionist" and "a virtuoso of the old order." He currently is listed on the music faculties of the California State Universities at Los Angeles, Long Beach, and Fullerton, as well as the University of Redlands and Immaculate Heart College.

Tickets may be obtained at The Guitar Shop, on Dolores between 5th and 6th in Carmel, or at the door on the evening of the performance.

consider them as being vain and false). Thus communing only with myself, and examining my inner self, I shall try to make myself better known and more familiar to myself. I am a thing which thinks, doubts, affirms, denies, knows a few things, is ignorant, loves, hates, wills, does not will, imagines, and perceives. All these things, I believe, reside and are found in me.

In the little I have said, I believe, is all I really know, or at least, all that up to now I have observed that I know.

I shall examine more closely to see if there is not to be found in me other knowledge that I have not observed before. I am a thinking being and I feel I know what is required to make me certain of some things. And even if I believed in certain things, I could change my beliefs if certain things that were clearly and distinctly true were found to be false.

I have accepted many things I have afterwards recognized to be doubtful and uncertain--the earth, the sky, the stars and all the other objects I perceived by means of my senses. What did I perceive? Only that these ideas were embedded in my mind. Even now I do not deny that these ideas are found in me, but I did not perceive it all. There were things outside myself from which these ideas came, and to which they had a perfect resemblance. So the truth of my judgement was not any knowledge I might have had.

Let us "simple it down" a bit: When I considered any simple and easy matter in arithmetic and geometry such as two and three make five, I conceived them clearly enough to affirm that they were true. If I have judged since that these things can be doubted, it has been for no other reason than because it occurred to me that a God might perhaps have given me a nature that I might make mistakes even concerning the things which seem the most obvious to me. But every time this comes to my mind I have to admit to myself that it would be easy for Him, if he wishes, to arrange that I fall into error, even in things which I believe I know with the greatest certainty. On the other hand, everytime I turn towards things which I think I conceive very clearly, I am so persuaded of their truth that I spontaneously declare: Let Him deceive me, but He shall never be able to cause me to be nothing. So long as I think that I am something, I will never be nothing. I shall never think at any time that I have never been, since it is true that I am. I shall never think that two and three make more or less than five, or such like things which I see clearly, cannot be other than as I conceive them. I have no reason to believe that there is a deceitful God. In fact I have every reason to believe that the God-That-Is gave us a mind to think with, and the common sense of judgement sufficient to utilize the mind to its greatest capacity.

If a man builds a radio or any electronic equipment, he places within it every resistor, capacitor, transistor, I.F., and R.F. frequency necessary for the equipment to do the will of the builder.

When God created man He did the same thing. Could He, or would He, implant a circuit inside us to make us do his will? He did not do that. He put in a circuit called "desire". You must desire him before you believe. It has to be your choice.

What do I do now? I am in the middle of a beautiful thought, and I HAVE RUN OUT OF SPACE. I must tell you that last Thursday evening the California Rodeo gave their annual dinner and business meeting. They presented their 10-gallon hats and told jokes while making their reports, and everyone came to the conclusion that this year will be the greatest rodeo in history. I shall see you there. I wish I had more room to elaborate.

I hope to SEE you soon. Andy says hello to you wonderful people. Keep a pouch of dry powder handy. I love you. You know that, don't you?

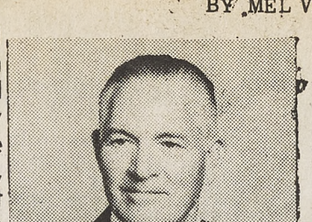
As I See It

BY MEL VERCOE



Should people be discouraged from helping others to commit suicide? Is there much real difference between handing a distraught person a loaded gun and handing a hopeless alcoholic a drink of liquor? Or encouraging a young child to start a cigarette smoling habit that will shorten his life by several years?

There is a social stigma attached to aiding and abetting an out and out suicide in most cases. Pusing an acquaintance off a cliff in a gesture of good will after he makes a last minute decision to go back to his wife would be an example. But the issue I wish to raise is how far we should go in helping to destroy life when it is being done strictly for monetary gain.

Some years ago, after much haggling and wheeling and dealing a compromise was finally reached between the U.S. Congress and the tobacco industry in regard to placing warning labels on cigareette packages. It was of necessity a painful compromise, because much more than human lives was at stake. Warning labels might cut into sales, and besides the profit that might be lost we had to consider the welfare of the tobacco farmers, just as we can't expect farmers in Turkey to stop growing the opium that eventually gets to America in the form of heroin.

So it was a good battle, but the members of Congress who put their priorities on money and the farmers finally lost to the extent that packages of cigarettes now bear small warning labels that nobody looks at anyway.

And from that foothold in the doorway we have now advanced to where little Junior is no longer informed on TV about the virtures of having the right brand of weed handy when a desperate sweet young thing without a suit of long underwear and dying for a smoke just happens to come along.

But the rest of the advertising goes on, and millions of dollars are spent each year to promote and expand the use of tobacco and alchohol, and we wonder why a direct tax should not be levied on these industries to take care of the victims, not just the ones who die of lung cancer and other problems often directly related to msoking, or who die from booze or acts performed while under its influence, but the children and other relatives of these people who die anywhere from ten to forty years before their time. And the final question then is, why not force these industries to foot the whole bill when a victim or a victim's dependant has to become a recipient of state welfare?

Cal Rodeo Holds Annual Monterey Meeting

Members of the rapidly growing Seaside Youth Council, consisting of junior high and high school students from Marina, Fort Ord, Seaside and Monterey, would make potential rodeo fans if transportation could be provided to and from Salinas.

This was the message which Mayor Bernard Dolan brought to the annual Monterey meeting of the California Rodeo board of directors held last Thursday evening at the Outrigger on Cannery Row.

Purpose of the meeting was to call attention to Monterey Peninsula Day at the California Rodeo on Saturday, July 21, and to offer an invitation to Monterey Peninsula residents to attend through the mayors of the various communities.

In accordance with a tradition of long standing, the directors presented a ten gallon hat to Mayor Peter Coniglio of the host city who was the only mayor present who had been elected for the first time since the last Monterey meeting.

Coniglio broke a lifelong habit of going bareheaded when for the first time last Saturday he wore a hat.

Mayor Coniglio welcomed the directors to Monterey and said he was looking forward to coming to Salinas with the other mayors this year.

Other guests of the directors were Mayors Bernard Anderson, Carmel; Bernard Dolan, Seaside, and Charles Benson, Del Rey Oaks. Mayor Bob Quinn, Pacific Grove, who was injured in a boating accident earlier in the week, was represented by Vive-Mayor Jum Hughes.

Hughes, who is the director of the Pacific Grove Marine Rescue Patrol was called away from the meeting briefly when it was reported that a diver was in difficulty. It proved to be a false alarm.

Business of the meeting centered around sale of tickets for the rodeo, which will be held at Salinas July 19 through 22.

COTTAGE CHEESE WAS FIRST MADE by pioneer women to use the milk after they skimmed off the cream for making butter. Since housewives made this dairy product in their homes, it came to be called "cottage" cheese.

Bob Wood Reports

June marks the beginning of the long summer vacation for most of our children in Monterey County. But not all children are taking vacations this summer. Many of them are still in school throughout the state.

Some years ago California educators started questioning the rationale for leaving school facilities idle during the summer months. Three years ago, one California school adopted a year-round program of operation. Currently, California has approximately 50 such programs, and next year that total is expected to reach one hundred.

Perhaps the most popular year-round program adopted to date is the 45-15 plan. Under this plan, instead of the traditional three-month summer vacation, four shorter seasonal vacations are created and spread throughout the year. Children attending school under the program are grouped into four "tracks," or groups. Each group attends school for 45 days (9 weeks) and then breaks for a 15-day vacation. This 45-15 day cycle is repeated six times during the year.

Each child must be in school attendance for at least four of these cycles, because state law requires a minumum of 175 days of school per year. However, children and parents have the option of selecting which seasonal cycles they wish for vacation periods.

In some districts, the option of remaining in school all year is offered. At any one time there are three tracks of children in school and one group is on vacation.

Experts tell us there are both educational and fiscal advantages to operating schools year-round. Shorter, more frequent vacation periods spread throughout the year provide for a more continuous educational program. Families are offered the option of providing their children with more varied seasonal vacation experiences. Further, the option of remaining in school all year gives children who need extra help the opportunity to receive it.

Undoubtedly, there will be problems when any school district decides to figure in a year-round operation. Traditional family life styles may be disrupted. Communities will be forced to cope with the fact that there will be groups of children on vacation all year long. However, if some of the school districts that are trying it like it, undoubtedly there may be other school districts which may wish to try it.

Letters to theEditor

Editor:

Who but a "sourpuss" could be against parades? Do we not need just such spectables to break up the routine of life?

A parade means drums; and brass and other instruments; and proud horses and their riders; and behicles of all types; and floats; and servicemen with tough, set faces; and flags - lots ot them; and a reviewing stand; and dignitaries delighting in the limelight; and baton-twirlers, from teen-age down, in mini-skirts, obviously proud of their figures, but completely unaware of what they will look like a few years hence if they continue to eat and drink unwisely; and speeches; and applause; and milling crowds; and food and drinks; and commercial advertisements; and beaming countenances of Chamber-of-Commerce-officials, and city officials.

Yet I cannot help feeling that if one has seen a few parades, one has seen them all! So alike are they! The tumult, the colors, the antics, the march, the beauty queens. Originality and vision seldom distinguish them.

How about a parade on a higher level? Against Watergates nationally and on state and local levels, wherever corruption, autocratic behaviro, violation of ethical concepts take hold in those entrusted with power?

How about the parade featuring the desire of thoughtful and dedicated people to have America beautiful everywhere, its air smog free, its waters unpolluted, its food unpoisoned by chemicals, its housing pleasant and attractive for all its citizens? Its prosperity not for only part of its population but for every constructive and upright citizen? Its budget reasonable and balanced, its debt greatly reduced, its dollar honored everywhere in the world? Its intentions to keep at peace highly respected? Its spending in behalf of all of us having a better, more secure and nobler life, taking precedence over everything else - from armanents to space adventures?

Would it not be nice to have a parade where the kindest, most helpful, most self-sacrificing and dedicated men and women and youth took part and were honored? Where the elderly retired were given proper respect for their life-time of endeavors in building our land? Where good teachers, workingmen, kindlu and fair business and professional people, the best in every occupation be ethical standards, were given their just show of respect by the public? Where the very highest honors was bestowed not on a beauty queen but on our finest example of dedicated humans?

I enjoy an occasional parade. But I hope that they will eventually climb to a moral intellectual and moral height.

Sincerely yours
George Herman, Marina

On May 15th the Board of Supervisors voted into existence a Consumer Affairs Bureau for Monterey County. This was due in large part to the help and support the MontereyjCounty Consumer Affairs Committee received throughout the county.

The very nature of such an agency necessitates continuing support and participation from throughout the community. Only then can it meet the needs for which it was set up. County officials, the media, the business community and the public at large will all have roles to play.

The two key county officials, District Attorney William Curtis and County Sealer Dankel Smit have been of invaluable assistance to the Consumer Affairs Committee. With county officials such as these, and the already demonstrated public interest, we feel sure that the Consumer Affairs Bureau will be of real service to the community.

'Elizabeth R' Begins July 9 On KMST-TV

Academy Award-winning British actress Glenda Jackson stars as England's Queen Elizabeth I in the highly acclaimed series, "Elizabeth R." The "Virgin Queen's" brilliant reign begins Monday, July 9, on KMST-TV, 9:30-ll, for six consecutive weeks.

This grand pageant of history captured the largest audience in British television history when it aired in England.

The mystery and power of Elizabeth is explored in six, 90-minute dramas written by different authors. Together the plays present a chronological picture of one of the most exciting and colorful periods in English history.

The series follows Elizabeth -- Henry VIII's daughter by Anne Boleyn -- through her gradual transition from a young, pretty princess to a wrinkled, ungly, thumb-sucking old woman.

Although Elizabeth never married, the plays are based loosely around her relationships to the many men in her life. For instance, in the opening episode, "The Lion's Cub," young Elizabeth is banished from the court to the Tower for her suspect relationship with Thomas Seymour. It's during the brief reigns of her brother Edward and her sister Mary that she learns the political power game her father played so well. "The Lion's Cub" was written by John Hale who co-authored the screen play for "Anne of A Thousand Days" and "Mary, Queen of Scots."

The second play, "The Marriage Game," shows Elizabeth as a young queen and covers her romance with Robert Dudley, the Earl of Leicester. (The second play will air KMST-TV on Monday, July l6).

In "Shadows in the Sun" (airing KMST-TV Monday, July 23) she is portrayed as Europe's most eligible lady, with great rulers vying for her affection. She plays a game of politics and romance with the French duke, Alencon. However, she refuses to marry and placates the Duke with a financial payoff.

"Horrible Conspiracies" is the fourth play (airing KMST-TV Monday, July 30) and deals with Mary, Queen of Scots, her plot against Elizabeth and her execution. For almost half of Elizabeth's reign she was haunted by rivalry and the supposed threat of her cousin Mary Stuart.

England defeats the Spanish Armada in "The Enterprise of England," fifth play in the "Elizabeth R" series (airing KMST-TV Monday, August 6). Philip II of Spain turns his military might against Elizabeth in revenge for Mary's execution. It was Queen Bess's finest hour.

"Sweet England's Pride" is the finale for "Elizabeth R" (airing KMST-TV on Monday, August l3). The play explores the Queen's last tragic years. She flirts with the handsome and ambitious Earl of Essex in a final effort to regain her romantic youth. He betrays her and she sends him to be executd. She dies, alone, while her countrymen go to greet the new monarch.

YOU CAN BUY BURGLARY AND ROBBERY INSURANCE FOR YOUR BUSINESS OR HOME THROUGH The California FAIR Plan Association

Customer Tells Why She Bought New Datsun

SAVER - Lovie Chavis receives keys to her new Datsun from Kendall Datsun salesman. Because her 1966 Datsun (right) was in such good condition, Kendall gave her generous trade-in allowance on it.

Datsun saves on gas! Datsun saves on maintenance! Datsun saves wear and tear on the budget!

You can believe Lovie Chavis, who says "I bought my 1966 Datsun in Seaside and drove it for seven years and 81,000 trouble-free miles and I musst say, it didn't really cost me too much to drive.

"For example, 81,000 miles divided by seven years equals 11,571 miles a year, I averaged 25 miles to the gallon of gas, so that is 463 gallons a year. At an average cost of 31 cents a gallon, I spent about $144 a year on gas. Changing my oil every 3,000 miles cost me another $105. Let's see, for seven years of driving, it cost about $1110. Oh! I almost forgot. It cost me another $89 for a few tune ups and a set of brakes.

ORDINANCE NO. 432

AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY OF SEASIDE RELATING TO BUSINESS OPERATIONS TAXES

The City Council of the City of Seaside does ordain as follows:

SECTION 1. The Municipal Code of the City of Seaside is amended by amending the following sections:

3-303 Substitute for Other Revenue Ordinances

Any person required to pay a business operations tax for transacting and carrying on any business under this ordinance shall be relieved from the payment of any business operations tax for the privilege of doing such business which has been required under any other ordinance of the City, but shall remain subject to the regulatory provisions of such other ordinances. This section shall not apply to inspection fees.

3-305 License Required

Business operations taxes are hereby levied upon all businesses, trades, professions, callings and occupations in the City in the amounts hereinafter prescribed, and it shall be unlawful for any person to transact and carry on any business in the City without first having procured a license from said City so to do or without complying with any and all applicable provisions of this ordinance.

3-306 Branch Establishments

A separate business operations tax license must be obtained for each branch establishment or location of the business transacted and carried on, for each separate type of business at the same location, and each license shall authorize the licensee to transact and carry on only the business licensed; provided that the warehouses and distributing plants used in connection with or incidental to a business licensed under the provisions of this ordinance shall not be deemed to be separate places of business or branch establishments.

3-307 Exemptions

(a) Constitution or Statutes of the United States or the State of California: Nothing in this ordinance shall be deemed or construed to apply to any person transacting and carrying on any business except by virture of the Constitution or applicable provisions or statutes of the United States or of the State of California from the payment to municipal corporations of such business operations taxes as are herein prescribed.

(b) Produce of Farmers: No business operations tax shall be required of any persons for sale of fruits or vegetables raised by such person upon the lands located within the County of Monterey.

(c) Claim for Exemption: Any person claiming an exemption pursuant to this section shall file a verified statement with the City Clerk stating the facts upon which exemption is claimed. The City Clerk shall, upon a proper showing contined in said verified statement, issue a license to such person claiming exemption without payment to the City of the business operations tax required by this ordinance.

(d) Charitable Institutions; Organizations of a nonprofit or charitable nature shall be exempt from the payment to the City of a business operations tax required by this ordinance, upon the filing of a verified statement with the City Clerk stating the facts upon which exemption is claimed. Exemption shall not be granted where the profits of the organization, or group, go to or are for the benefit of any paticular individual.

To qualify for exemption, an applicant organization or group must be able to qualify as a nonprofit and/or charitable organization as such terms are used in the Constitution and statutes of the State of California. The City Clerk shall, upon such proper showing, issue a license to such qualifying group or organization without payment of business operations tax.

3-309 Affidavit for First License

Upon a person making application for the first license to be issued hereunder or for a newly established business, in all cases where the amount of the business operations tax to be paid is based upon gross receipts, such person shall furnish to the Tax Collector for his guidance in ascertaining the amount of license to be paid by the applicant, a written statement, upon a form provided by the City Clerk, sworn to before a person authorized to administer oaths, setting forth such information as may be therein required and as may be necessary properly to determine the amount of the business operations tax to be paid by the applicant.

If the amount of the business operations tax to be paid by the applicant is based upon the gross receipts, he shall estimate the gross receipts for the period to be covered by the license to be issued. Such estimate, if accepted by the Tax Collector is reasonable, shall be used in determing the amount of business operations tax to be paid by the applicant; provided, however, the amount of the business operations tax so determined shall be tentative only, and such person shall, within thirty (30) days after the expiration of the period for which such licnese was issued, furnish the Tax Collector with a sworn statement, upon a form furnished by the City Clerk, showing the gross receipts during the period for such license and the business operations tax for such period shall be finally ascertained and paid in the manner provided by this ordinance for the ascertaining and paying of renewal businesses, after deducting from the payment found to be due, the amount paid at the time such first license was issued.

The Tax Collector shall not issue to any such person another license for the same or any other business until such person shall have furnished him the written statement and paid the business operations tax as herein required.

3-310 Renewal License

In all cases, the applicant for the renewal of a license shall submit to the Tax Collector for his guidance in ascertaining the amount of the business operations tax to be paid by the applicant, a written statement upon a form to be provided by the City Clerk, sworn to before a person authorized to administer oaths, setting forth such information concerning the applicant's business during the preceding calendar year as may be required by said tax collector to enable him to ascertain the amount of the business operations tax to be paid by said applicant pursuant to the provisions of this ordinance.

3-311 Statement Not Conclusive

No statement shall be conclusive as to the matters set forth therein, nor shall the filing of the same preclude the City from collecting by appropriate action such sum as is actually due and payable hereunder. Such statement and each of the several items therein contained shall be subject to audit and verification by the Tax Collector, his deputies or authorized employees of the City, who are hereby authorized to examine, audit and inspect such books and records of any licensee or applicant for amount of business operations tax due. All licensees, applicants for license, and persons engaged in business in the City are hereby required to permit an examination of such books and records for the purpose aforesaid. The information furnished or procured pursuant to this section or Sections 3-309 and 3-310 of this ordinance shall be confidential. Any unwarranted disclosures or use of such information by any officer or employee of the City shall constitute a misdemeanor and such officer or employee shall be subject to the penal provisions of this ordinance.

3-312 Failure to File Statement

If any person fails to file any required statement within the time prescribed, or if after demand therefor made by the Tax Collector, he fails to file a correct statement, the Tax Collector may determine the amount of business operations tax due from such person by means of such information as he may be able to obtain. In case such a determination is made, the Tax Collector shall give a notice of the amount so assessed by serving it personally or depositing it in the United States Post Office, postage prepaid, addressed to the person so assessed at his last known address. Such person may within ten (10) days after the mailing or service of such notice make application, in writing, to the Tax Collector for a hearing on the amount of the business operations tax. If such application is made or if the application is not made within the time prescribed, the Tax Collector must cause the matter to be set for hearing within fifteen (15) days before the City Council. The City Clerk shall give at least ten (10) days' notice to such person of the time and place of hearing in the manner prescribed above for the service of notice of assessment. The City Council shall consider all evidence produced, and written notice of its findings thereon, which findings shall be final, shall be served upon the applicant in the manner prescribed above for service of notice of assessment.

3-314 Extension of Time

In addition to all other powers conferred upon him, the Tax Collector shall have the power, for good cause shown, to extend the time required for any sworn statement for a period not exceeding thirty (30) days, and in such case to waive the penalty that would otherwise have accrued, and shall have the further power, with the consent of the City Council, to compromise any claim as to the amount of business operations tax.

3-315 Transfers

No business operations tax issued pursuant to this ordinance shall be transferable; provided that, where a license is issued authorizing a person to transact and carry on a business at a particular place, such licensee may, upon application therefor and paying a fee of One Dollar ($1.00), have the license amended to authorize the transacting and carrying on of such business under said license at some other location to which the business has or is to be moved.

3-316 Unexpired Licenses Heretofore Issued

Where a license for revenue purposes has been issued to any business by the City and tax paid therefor under the provisions of any ordinance heretofore enacted and the term of such license has not expired, then the business operations tax prescribed by this ordinance for said business shall not be payable until the expiration of the term for such unexpired license.

3-319 Business Operations Tax - How and When Payable

Unless otherwise specifically provided, all annual business operations taxes, under the provisions of this ordinance, shall be due and payable in advance of the first day of July of each year.

Except as otherwise herein provided, business operations taxes other than annual required hereunder shall be due and payable as follows:

(b) Dances: Every person carrying on the business of conducting public dances at which an admission fee is charged, collected or received, shall pay a license tax of Five Dollars ($5.00) for each dance with a maximum of Twenty-five Dollars ($25.00) per quarter.

(c) Peddlers and Itinerant Vendors: Every person carrying on the business of peddling or selling or soliciting orders for services or goods, wholesale orders excepted from this section, not having a regularly established place of business in the City, shall pay a business operations tax of Three Dollars ($3.00) per day with a maximum of Twelve Dollars ($12.00) per month.

(d) Retail Liquor and Beverage Stores: All establishments selling liquor and other beverages and/or retail food items in conjunction with the sale of retail liquors for off-site consumption as the principal sales items shall pay a business operations tax of $50 per annum. This rate shall not apply to retail food establishments and similar establishments which do not sell liquor or alcoholic beverages as the principal item.

(e) Pawnshops and Pawnbrokers: All establishments operating as pawnshops and/or persons operating as pawnbrokers and/or businesses which loan money on pledged tangible personal property shall pay a business operations tax of One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) per annum. Such license shall not be issued until and unless applicant presents a certificate of clearance from the Chief of Police certifying that the business conforms in all respects with the laws and regulations of the City of Seaside and the State of California.

(f) Christmas Tree Lots: Every applicant for a business operations license to operate a lot for the sale of Christmas trees shall deposit a surety bond in the amount of Two Hundred Dollars ($200.00) with the City License Collector to insure the lot being left in a clean condition within seven (7) days after discontinuance of the sale of trees.

3-328.5 Non-Appurtenant Outdoor Advertising Structures

All persons, firms or corporations owning non-appurtenant outdoor advertising structures shall pay a business operations tax of ten cents ($.10) per square foot of reader board area per annum.

The amount of any business operations tax imposed by the provisions of this ordinance shall be deemed a debt to the City, and any person carrying on any business without first having procured a license from said City, so to do, shall be liable in an action in the name of the City brought in any court of competent jurisdiction, for the amount of the business operations tax imposed upon such business.

The granting of a business operations license under the provisions of this chapter shall not be construed as authorizing the violation of any laws of the State of California or any other provisions of the Municipal Code.

Any business operations tax required to be paid by a contractor shall be reduced to one-half if more than six months of the tax period has elapsed. If any contractor has been conducting his business in the City prior to payment of the business operations tax required such reduction shall not be made.
